Cyclers are real Bad Guyz

If what 18-year-old Brent Shelley of Georgetown says is true, the Team Bad Guyz freestyle cyclers should be a show stopper.

Shelley, manager of the team, said he and his crew are looking forward to performing cycling tricks and jumps for Pioneer Days' crowds at 11:30 a.m. on June 16. The team, party sponsored by Ollie's Cycle and Ski sports shop in Georgetown.

The team, consisting of five riders, one from Georgetown, three from Brampton and another from Barrie, have been riding together for close to a year. Shelley said the team has been 'performing throughout several regions for about six months.

Aside from the impressive ground, air and balancing tricks, the Bad Guyz Team will be appealing to young riders to practise safe riding skills. Shelley said the team endorses the use of helmets, proper elbow and knee pads. He said the team stresses that less experienced riders not attempt the same tricks as serious injuries could result.

The team is excited about performing for the Pioneer Days' crowds, Shelley said, adding that large excitable crowds encourage the riders to perform better.

After the cycling show the team will be giving away prizes supplied by Ollie's sports store to the best decorated bicycle. Team Bad Guyz riders will be judging at the competition.

pony rides to the kids. The western theme will Tumbleweed Jones and his faithful companion Becky will be on hand during Pioneer Days to give prevail during the weekend's events.
