

Nickel carnival worth the drive

It might have been a 'Hot night in the Hills' Wednesday but there were some pretty cool dudes at the Acton Community Centre. The Halton Hills Parks and Recreation Department Summer Activity Program Leaders staged a 'Cruisin' Nickel Carnival that attracted youngsters of all ages.

The Amazing Mathew performed magical tricks, games of all sorts were available for the youngsters, there were pony rides, a dunking booth, a penny table and refreshments galore to quench the thirst. The Halton Hills Fire Department was also on hand outside the Acton Community Centre and hordes of youngsters got to sound the siren and ask questions of the firemen. All in all, a great time was provided by a great group of appropriately-named young leaders.

Just relaxing on the beach. That's what siblings, Jenah Thompson and Mitchell Thompson, were doing Wednesday evening at the 'Cruisin' Nickel Carnival staged by Halton Hills Parks and Recreation Department Summer Activity Program Leaders at Acton Community Centre. (Herald Photo by Colin Gibson)
