Railway Museum turns back time

The Halton County Radial Railway Museum, located on Guelph Line, just outside Rockwood, takes visitors back to the days of the electric railways in the 19th and 20th century.

Founded in 1953, the museum is sponsored by the Ontario Electric Railway Historical Association, a non-profit educational organization. The museum displays a variety of street cars, radial cars and work cars from days gone by, the oldest dating back more than 60 years.

On the grounds there is a gift shop, restoration centre, the Rockwood train station (relocated from its original site) and a car house.

In addition, one can take a scenic mile-long ride through the woodlands on a classic antique train, hopping on board at a turn of the century railway station.

Watch as volunteer craftsmen and artisans aid in the refurbishing and rebuilding of additions soon to be added to the Museum's collection. The gift shop offers a variety of railway nostalgia for the visitor to buy, including books, prints and artifacts.

Agricultural Museum opened doors in 1979

Originally a project of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, the Ontario Agricultural Museum consists of over 30 buildings on a 32 hectare site.

The Agricultural Museum idea was conceived in 1966. Land was acquired for the development of a museum in that same year. The Ontario government then obtained a collection of tools, machines and equipment from private sources, which formed the basis of the new museum.

The collection continued to grow with the help of interested donors throughout Ontario. In 1979, the Ontario Agricultural Museum officially opened its doors to the public. Up to and including the present, the Museum continues to add new displays and buildings each season.

Daily demonstrations are given by skilled staff. Examples of craftsmanship of the weaver, the spinner, the blacksmith and the wheelwright are presented as well as special events such as the Family Corn Festival (a day of corn-on-the-cob, musical entertainment, square dancing and a host of live demonstrations), or the Christmas Craft Fair (quilts, crafts, gifts), in September.

Group visits, special youth and adult programs as well as educational tours (available from April to November), are all provided.

Located beneath the Niagara Escarpment at Milton, the Museum is only a 30-minute drive west of Toronto.

From Highway 401, take exit 312 or 320 north and follow signs to Museum. From the Q.E.W., take Highway 25 north to Milton and follow signs to Museum.

The Museum is open daily from mid-May to mid-September, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
