Hockey camp spots still open

The Halton Hills Sports Operations Hockey School, is still looking for about 40 more students before it begins its run Aug. 27-31.

Dave Krause, one of the camp's organizers, said the training can be a big help, both to relative newcomers to the sport as well as the more serious-minded individuals.

"We teach two levels, one is the basic and the other is advanced. The basic is mostly learning how to stop and start properly, as well as some of the other groundworks of the game. The camp can be a really big help to those players interested in playing for a triple A team, which just started this year.

Krause said that with some extra training, which is available at the school, it could make a difference for some house league players being picked up by a rep team.

The camp, for children aged 7-13, costs $160 and includes two ice sessions daily, with regular fitness and sports activities. Anyone needing more information can call 873-3931.

Reducing Hypertension in the Elderly

Hypertensive elderly people should have their blood pressure reduced gradually to levels slightly higher than those of younger people. Diastolic pressures should be lowered to 90 mm Hg, but not less.
