Art auction a success

By BETTY SOJKA
Saturday's Art Auction at the Community Centre started out precariously. There was a large group, but they were not in the bidding mood. Many pieces were passed, until finally there was some interest. A total of 164 pieces were available for auction. A good many of the pieces were sold at the opening bid, which made for some great buys. The Hall Board increased their profit over past years.

The profit was due to the large number of donated art. These local artists were incredibly generous. The evening's success was due to the many volunteers who made the evening possible. The names are too numerous to mention at this time. A tremendous amount of hours were spent by these volunteers in setting up, serving wine and cheese, working the finance table, handing out programs, etc. The Hall Board will meet later for a post auction meeting, to record many details to aid the next election.

This is a busy week as both the

There was much to discover at a Bazaar and Craft Sale at the Ballinafad United Church Saturday afternoon. The Bender family, left to right, Lora, 7, Tommy, 1, Loretto, Jessica, 4, and Robbie, 7, found some interesting artifacts at the afternoon sale. Here, Tommy is intrigued by a small woolen ball.
