

Turning point of season for Halton Peewee team

November 17 may be remembered by the Halton AAA Minor Peewees as a turning point in their season.

This date witnessed the third match up with Burlington who had handed the Hurricanes two lopsided losses in their previous meetings.

Halton opened the scoring at 8:37 of the first on a series of rebounds.

Paul Neff's drive from the point came back to Peter Mashinter in the slot. His shot rebounded to Todd Miller at the edge of the crease and he flipped it over the Burlington goalie to give Halton the early lead.

The Hurricanes continued their assault on the Burlington defenders and at 3:38 of the period, on the power play, an alert Doug Janjevich made it 2-0 when he jammed a loose puck behind a disbelieving Burlington netminder who thought the puck was smothered under his pads.

With the momentum now clearly in Halton's favor, Janjevich struck again early in the second, this one on a clear breakaway to put the Hurricanes up by three.

At 3:56 of the period, Darin Finlayson used his long reach to slap one in from the side of the net. This goal was set up by Jamie Walker and Janjevich and gave Halton a four-goal edge going into the third.

The Hurricanes came out in the last frame playing hard hitting defensive hockey which unfortunately seemed to wake up the Burlington offence.

With nine minutes remaining, the visitors took advantage of a stickless Halton defender to score their first goal and at 5:56 jumped on a Hurricane turnover to clinch within two.

With the home town legs starting to feel the weight of a week layoff, it was the sound goaltending of Jeff Langille in the last five minutes that preserved a 4-2 victory.

Halton will travel to Hamilton on Sunday for a game against the Wings and return home Tuesday to host Chinguacousy at Memorial.

Four wins for Midgets

The Canada Brick Major Midget 'AAA' Halton Hurricanes dramatically improved their league fortunes in the past week with four convincing wins in as many outings.

Halton opened the week's busy schedule at Alcott on Nov. 13 with one of their best defensive efforts to date as they rolled to a convincing 4-0 win over Hamilton. Goalie Ryan Peddie was particularly solid between the pipes to earn the shut-out.

Wingman Rob Crowe, assisted by Sean Bourgeois, opened the scoring with a warp-around goal in the third minute of play.

Early second period Hamilton pressure was thwarted by Peddie, and with 4:59 on the clock, defenceman Rob Laing converted a feed from Sean Gustini with a deflected shot from the right point to double Halton's lead. Minutes later, Damien Dubien scored with a low 25-footer through traffic with Mike Cox and Pat Hennerberry assisting.

The Hurricanes rounded out the scoring at the mid-point of the third when Crowe set up Todd Mulley on the right point. Mulley's slapshot rebounded for sniper Joe Piazza to flip home the local's fourth and final goal of the night.

Last Wednesday, in Chinguacousy, winger Crowe again opened the Hurricanes' scoring, early in the first period, with a 40-foot blast to the top corner from the left flank.

Ken Kosziwka, in his first outing with Halton, increased the lead to 2-0 on the powerplay at 9:18 of the second. Cox then took advantage of another powerplay opportunity, nine seconds into the third, when he popped home the rebound from a floating point shot by Laing.

Ching shortened the lead to 3-2 later in the final frame but some sharp goaltending by Peter Downs controlled the home team rally. Trevor Elensky scored the insurance marker with 2:06 remaining, when he deked the Ching goalie after a rink-long passing play by Bourgeois and Gustini, to secure the 4-2 win.

The Hurricanes' rematch in Hamilton on Friday night turned into the highest scoring outing of the season as Halton rolled to an 8-3 victory.

The Hurricanes jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first period on a pair of goals by Kosziwka and another by Cox. Mike McPhail and Cox set up Kosziwka's first goal, and Bourgeois and Gustini assisted on his second. McPhail fed a pass from behind the net into the slot to assist Cox.

Hamilton rebounded with two powerplay goals late in the period, but McPhail re-established the three-goal lead with two second-period markers, assisted by Kosziwka and defenceman Wade Burrows.

The Hurricanes continued to pour on the pressure in the third. Gustini, assisted by Crowe, added number six, then Cox scored his second of the evening with Kosziwka and Jake Mashinter setting up the play.

Hamilton added their third tally with 8:13 remaining, but Halton rounded out the evening on a powerplay goal by Todd Mulley, assisted by McPhail and Mashinter. McPhail's five-point evening and Peddie's solid performance in goal helped the Hurricanes to square their league record with Hamilton.

Halton completed a clean sweep of the week's league play in Georgetown on Saturday when they downed Burlington 6-4, and improved their league record to 9-4-2. Kosziwka put the Hurricanes ahead 1:20 into the game when he backhanded in a rebound from the backboards from a Laing shot.
