SWISC reduced to advisory role by NDP government

Halton's new landfill site, which is scheduled to open in Milton next year, is no longer part of the Solid Waste Interim Steering Committee initiative, said Sally Leppard, a SWISC spokesperson, Monday.

Under the previous provincial government, SWISC was established to find landfill capacity for garbage generated in the Greater Toronto Area. As part of this initiative, SWISC required all GTA members to offer landfill capacity that could be used for garbage generated outside their respective boundaries. The GTA membership was comprised of Halton, Peel, York, Durham and Metropolitan Toronto.

The New Democrat government, however, has reduced the role of SWISC to an advisory capacity to assist a new provincial waste disposal Authority. The Authority will determine the need for a new GTA landfill and if one is required, designate the location, said Ms. Leppard.

As well, no longer will SWISC be responsible for developing 3R - reduce, reuse and recycle - programs, she said. That job will rest with the province in cooperation with the GTA membership, she explained.

In its advisory role, SWISC is currently meeting with the province to discuss how the Authority might choose a landfill site, how to establish a landfill and to establish the Authority's general role, she said.

As part of this process, Ms. Leppard said, public input will be sought.

Let it snow

Kevin Grubbe, one of the maintenance crew at the Cultural Centre, shovels some of the snow from around the building on Saturday. Grubbe expects to be kept busy outside in the next while, with more snow predicted to be on the way. (Herald photo)

Boudreau trial set for Jan. 21

Brian Boudreau, the Milton man charged with abduction, extortion, breach of probation and conspiracy to commit an indictable offence pleaded not guilty in Milton court Monday.

A trial date has been set for Jan. 21, 9:30 a.m. with Judge D.V. Latimer in Milton Provincial Court.

Mr. Boudreau, 35, was arrested Nov. 13 by Halton Regional Police officers at the airport after being deported by U.S. immigration authorities. He was wanted by Canadian authorities in connection with the abduction of his son Luc in April of last year.

Investigations by the U.S. and Halton authorities resulted in Mr. Boudreau's discovery in Hawaii. Luc Boudreau was returned to his mother's home in Milton on the weekend of Oct. 19, 1990.

Also charged in the case is Mr. Boudreau's half-brother Kenneth Boyle, 43, of Cambridge, for being an accessory after the fact, obstructing justice and conspiracy to commit an indictable offence.

Clarification

In the Jan. 4 issue of the Herald, a list of contributors to the Welcome Wagon basket delivered to all newborns was printed on the front page. A free rattle and gift certificate was noted as being donated by Discovery Toys. The gift was actually from Lisa Buck of Georgetown, a representative for Discovery Toys. The Herald apologizes for any inconvenience this error may have caused.
