Horses perished in fire

Fair. Unfortunately, all eight horses of this hitch were victims

One cannot accurately describe the beauty and grace of motion these horses displayed. The Hewsons have decades of home breeding involved in their horses.

The fire was a misfortune that claimed all of Hewson's show mares as well as many brood mares that were due to foal in 1991. This loss will not easily be resolved in the future. However, much of the young stock survived and the Clydesdale fraternity of the fire.

By KENDA NURSE Herald Special

The New Year is a time we like to reflect, period; what the days have been like during the past year and what aspirations we have for the days ahead. Many of us can enjoy the luxury of at least some positive thought. That is why bad news strikes us so deeply when it does occur.

On December 15, 1990, Wreford and Albert Hewson of Beeton, Ontario, suffered a huge tragedy when the original portion oftheir main horse barn caught fire. Thirty-nine purebred Clydesdale and Percheron horses perished as a result. Followers of Heavy Horse shows will remember the Hewson eight-up winning its respective class at Georgetown
