

14th Annual Hockey Heritage Awards Dinner

Ron MacLean, host of Hockey Night in Canada, returned as master of ceremonies for Georgetown's Hockey Heritage Awards Dinner, held Monday night at Holy Cross Auditorium. MacLean guided the evening along, introducing special guests and entertaining the crowd with tales of working with Don Cherry. (Herald photo)

Ron McKnight, a long-time friend and co-worker of Gerry Perkins, shows he hasn't failed to realize how much Gerry's wife Betty has contributed to the success of her husband. McKnight said putting up with Gerry's schedule for so many years has not been an easy task and wanted to thank her publicly for it. (Herald photo)

pens after signing hockey game sheets by Poulstrup, who also referees with him. (Herald photo)

dience were heard from this group as Gerry was roasted by old friends and when he received joke gifts from them. (Herald photo)
