Spring cleaning tips

When sprucing up your home, give those hard-to-reach corners, cracks and crevices special attention with new products and new ways of using some of grandma's favorite cleaning solutions.

The latest, according to Fred Nover, Vice President of Empire Brushes, the industry's leading producer of cleaning equipment for the home, go far beyond the basic scrubbing brush and broom, and include a number of hard-to-find specialty items for areas that are either forgotten or particularly difficult to reach.

Specialty brushes

For example, one of the specialty items you'll find dozens of uses for is a tile and grout brush that looks similar to a toothbrush. It's been designed to squeeze into those tight spaces you'll find in every bathroom. Simply dip the brush into a chlorine bleach solution, brush it over the problem area, and dirt and mildew will disappear.

One of Nover's personal favorites is a brush called Flex Scrub. Its bristles form a "U" shape that permits it to slide comfortably around faucets and pipes under the sink, two problem areas that usually just get a wipe and don't ever really get clean.

There's a Stretch and Flex dust mop with a handle that does the stretching so you don't have to. It makes it easy to reach and clean high places and corners or under furniture where cobwebs or dust collect.

Imagine how much dust collects under the refrigerator. Now there's a brush that can reach deep enough to clean it all out. Simply remove the bottom plate and sweep the area with the Refrigerator Coil brush. You'll be pleasantly surprised how much more efficiently your refrigerator will operate.

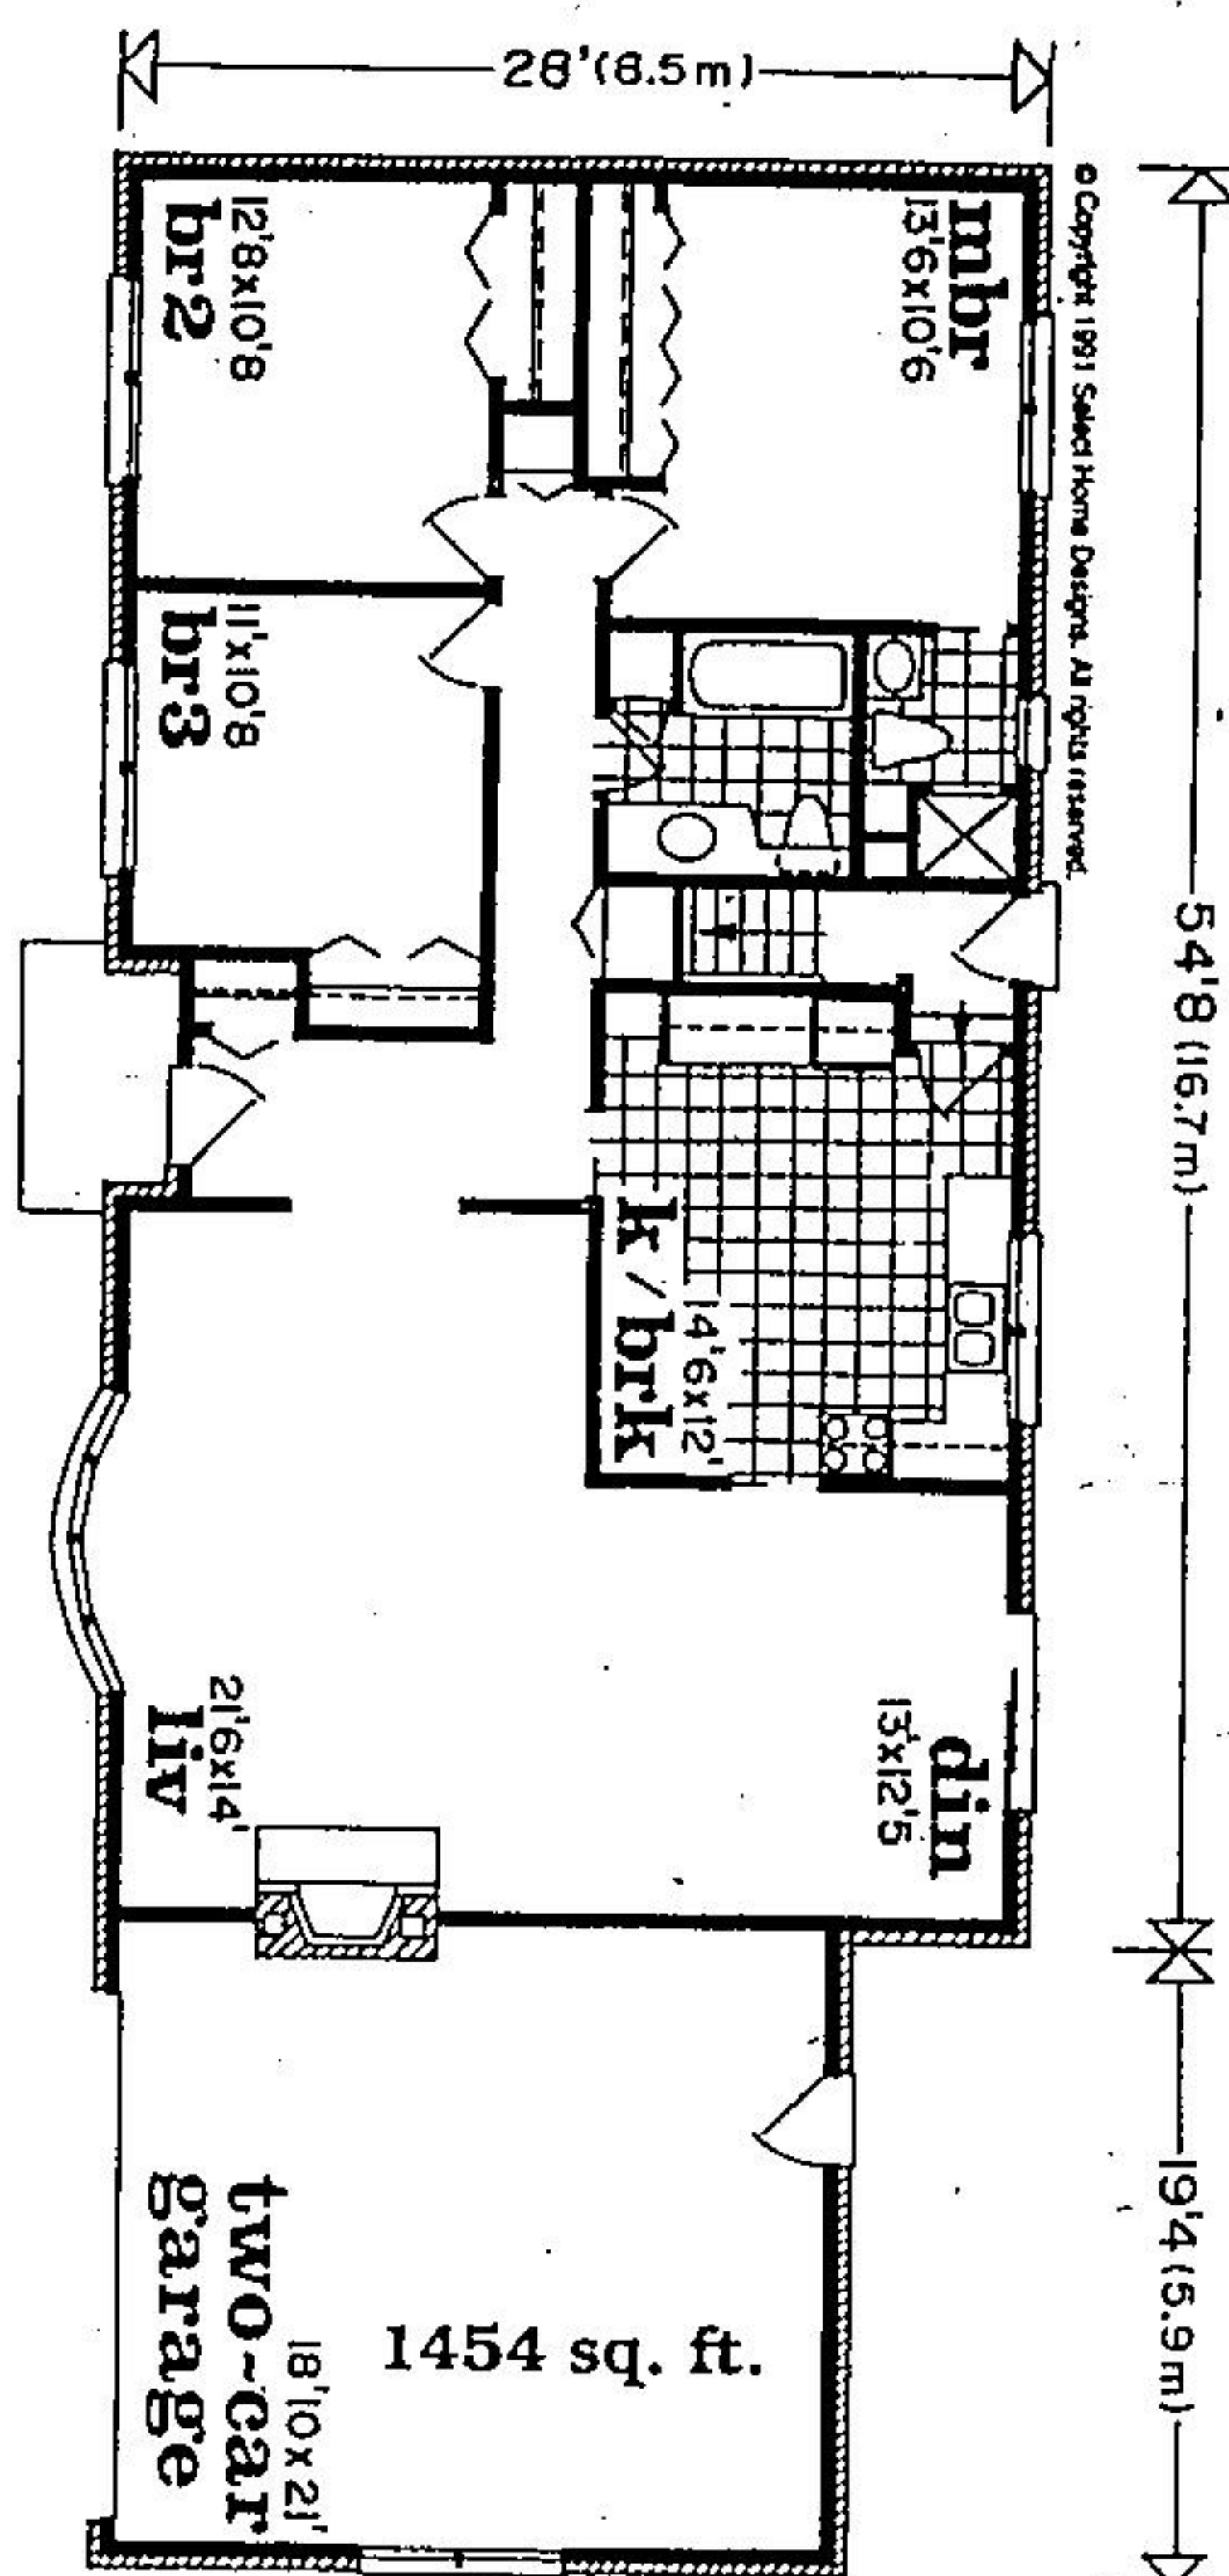

Clean like a pro

To shorten the length of time you spend cleaning your windows, Nover offers this suggestion: Clean them the professional way. Use a squeegee. Simply wipe them with a solution of three parts water mixed with one part vinegar, then wipe off with a squeegee. It's the quickest way to give your windows a fresh appearance.

Innovative design

The cleaning your old broom offered has been completely updated by the Empire's "Dirt Catcher." This revolutionary design has foam molded wing tips at the outer edges that catch everything in their sweeping path. The brush is available in three bristle types: fine, all-purpose and coarse for different surfaces.

With over 1,800 Empire brooms, mops, brushes and specialty items to choose from, giving dirt the brush off has never been easier.
