Hazardous spill team

Washing off the chemical residue from these fully encapsulating vapor chemical suits was one part of the hazardous material course Halton Hills firefighters John Martin and Bob Paul of the Hazardous Spill Team learned from instructors from the Fire Marshall's Office last week. The parking lot at the Georgetown Fire Hall was set up as an instructional area where firefighters learned how to patch leaking barrels and contain small chemical spills. The team finished the 40-hour training course today (Friday). (Herald photo by Lisa Boonstoppel-Pot)
