Halton's History-

Main Street Georgetown takes on new look

30 Years Ago

Residents learned that Georgetown's Main Street will have a radical new look when improvements, now in the final stages, are completed by midsummer. A major change will be moving street light standards to the centre of the road creating a boulevard type thoroughfare.

One of the district's oldest residents, Hugh Caldwell, celebrated his 98th birthday. His son was proprietor of the local IGA Foodliner.

Strong complaints about dust on Prince Charles Drive were made by a delegation of three ratepayers who sought action from council. Delegation

Two Erin residents, 28-year-old Wilson Brett and 30-year-old William Carpenter were killed as the result of a single car accident in Norval. Police say the car they were driving in skidded sideways on loose gravel on Hwy. 7 and slammed into two large pine trees on a front lawn. One of the trees was levelled by the impact.

Georgetown , High School teacher, Tom Ramataursingh was elected president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Association.

Clive Llewellyn of Georgetown was the only member of the Canadian Junior Wrestling team to win a match at the World Amateur Wrestling Championships in Tokyo, Japan. He placed seventh in his class. Georgetown High School wrestling coach, Lew Martin, said Clive, along with teammate Joe Fobert, could be candidates for Canada's Olympic wrestling team some time in the future.

Grade 13 student, Carol Lockwood, was crowned Queen of the Prom at Georgetown and District High School's annual formal. Her princesses were Debbie Elsliger and Marina Kent.

Attempts to save Acton's 99year-old Town Hall may be fruitless because of the passage of time and inflation, a town staff member warned interested parties. Representatives of the resident's restoration committee and the Actario fund-raising committee pleaded with council to save the building.

The installation of a new specimen collection station at the Georgetown Medical Centre - only the sixth such apparatus in Ontario - promises to save valuable time and efforts for all concerned, said hospital officials at an open house at the centre.

5 Years Ago

A new fire station for Acton was moved further into the future by Halton Hills councillors. Although the town's 1988 capital budget forecast set aside $42,000 for architect's fees for an Acton station, Acton councillors decided not to buy land for it until 1989 and not to build it until 1990.

Bang-O-Rama became a bad word Monday for members of the Georgetown Optimists Club. Their annual Victoria Day celebrations got rained out for , the first time in 10 years.
