

Community in Focus

Staunch donor

Cornelius Oosterhof (left) endured 100 pricks of the needle to receive this plaque from Red Cross volunteer, Nancy Schulhiss at the annual meeting of the Georgetown and District Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Mr. Oosterhof was honored for his 100 donations of blood. A plaque was also made up for Hubertus Vanderham who had also donated blood 100 times, but he wasn't present to receive the award. (Herald photo)

Singular honors

At the Georgetown East District Guiding Fly-up ceremony held recently at Centennial School, five young ladies were singularly honored. Pictured above, front row, left to right, Charlotte Strathdee and Kimberley Vagg, who will be moving up to Pathfinders, received their Canada Cords, the highest Guiding honor. Back row, left to right, Christine Brenckmann, Cheryl McReavy and Jaime Connolly will be moving up from Pathfinders to Senior Branches in Guiding. (Herald photo by Colin Gibson)

The biggest tree?

With measuring tape in hand, Robyn Pembleton (left) and Ashley Downie (right) from Glen Williams Public School set off in the woods at Blue Springs Scout Camp to find the biggest tree. This tree was one of the larger ones they found during their search which was just part of the activities students were involved in, at the camp for their outdoor studies on the environment. (Herald photo by Lisa Boonstoppel-Pot)

Mass-of-sound

The bands of Centennial Middle School in Georgetown and two Peterborough area schools, Chemong Public School and Confederation Public School joined forces Wednesday to form a mass band that performed at Centennial Middle School Wednesday for approximately 100 parents and students. (Herald photo)

Pathfinder awards

As Girl Guide Jaime Connolly opens the gift she received for earning the Canada Cord award, fellow award winner, Christine Brenckmann looks on to see what's inside. The two were among 19 Pathfinders aged 12 to 14 who were given the Canada Cord at the Girl Guides of Canada, Halton Division, Cord Presentations Ceremony for completing many hours of extra community service and other projects designed to promote community awareness and life skills to become mature and responsible adults. (Herald photo)

Culinary delight

The Kiwanis Club of Georgetown held its annual 'Lobsterfest' Saturday evening at Georgetown and District High School and at times it seemed there were too many cooks in the (outdoor) kitchen. Pictured above, left to right, preparing tasty steaks for the hungry were Jack Butler, Bob Marchand and Dave Ashbee. (Herald photo)