with an RBI single.

After Sherie Peacock reached base via catcher's interference, Stacey Colarossi lined a single which cashed another run. Andrea Chapman and Jen Winter followed with back-to-back RBI singles, and Carmen Cosentino drive in the fifth with a ground-out. It was 5-0.

Pickering got back in the game with four runs in its half of the inning, and both teams traded a pair of runs in the second. For Hoosiers, it was Peacock doubling in Morris and then scoring herself on an errant throw. It was 7-6.

Firestone added one run in the third. Carmen Cosentino walked, and was driven home on a Stigger safety. In the fourth, Firestone put the game away with four more runs. After a Michelle Sloley single, Peacock reached base on catcher's interference.

Colarossi then singled in a run, and Chapman hit an RBI ground-out. Winter drove in Colarossi and then scored on a wild pitch. The 75 minute game time limit ran out before the next inning could begin. Final score - Firestone 12, Pickering 6.

Starting pitcher Stigger was the winning pitcher, allowing three earned runs over two innings. Morris picked up the save, shutting out Pickering over the final two frames.

Unfortunately for the Angels, twos were just not enough against Jays. Guarded by Tophor Baker's pitching and defensive play like SS Dylan Lee's relay to Adam McDonald at first, the Jays, led by Mike Budget's grand slam, defeated Angels 10-3.

Halton Credit Union A's 10
George and Dragon Yankees 8
 Two high-scoring teams slugged it out right from the start. Yankees' Daniel Hardstaff homered and Eric Tremblay tripled, while Chris Noonan instigated a bases-loaded triple play to hold A's to three runs in the first. Nick Johnston of the A's put in a two-hit evening, gaining an RBI each.

Yankees hitting included two by Gerard Purcell and three RBIs by Adam Scuralli, but A's defence came alive, highlighted by Jason Higgins at third and Richard Cunningham behind the plate, to give A's a 10-8 win.

Beaver Lumber Mets 6
Jim and Pat Akers
Countrywide Tigers 11

Matt Rutherford, on a homer. Expos enjoyed solid pitching and defence, including fly ball catches by Simon Ford, Jeff Meinen, and Matt Walker, but came second in a tight game.

Lorraine Mann scored her first of four goals after a Lael Morgan high kick. Mann's second goal resulted from a Sarah Fenski pass. Her third goal came from an Esica Booth pass.
