Longhorns completely out-matched Moldmasters in Men's Flag Football League play on Sunday at Georgetown District High School, cruising to a 58-7 victory.

in each half, led by Mark Hamilton who racked up three touchdowns and a two-point convert.

In the first game of the day, Dawgs and Oldtimers were involved in a closer lower scoring game, resulting in a 22-7 win for Dawgs.

Alain Pellard got things started for Dawgs with a touchdown, followed by a major from Brad Ferguson. Two point converts from Duane Wilson and Linus Stausis helped keep the gap to nine points when Brian Beaumont helped Oldtimers get seven back before the half.

Dawgs pulled further away later in the game, recovering from an early second half interception by Oldtimers. Dennis Hanley pulled in six points for Dawgs while Bill Fornier had two interceptions to help preserve the win.

The Glen edged out M and M

26-19 in Sunday's match-up, with four different players - Jeff Couligan, Mike Henderson, Mark Waters and Greg Lawr each getting six points.

For M and M, Jack Proudfoot scored six to keep things close at 12-6 in the first half, but 13 points in the latter part of the game wasn't enough for a win.

In the final game of the day, the Hal Hulme-Rob Spiteri show took place as Meznic defeated Plus Welding 31-12. Hulme scored three touchdowns and had one interception, while Spiteri got one touchdown and an interception. Andrew Miester and Markus Noel got six points each for Plus Welding.

Editor's note: Last week's game between Meznic and The Glen was won 20-13 by Meznic. An incomplete game sheet resulted in The Glen being credited with the victory.

Local track athlete makes Canadian team

After working out some family concerns, Jim Tayler, founder of the Georgetown Athletic Club, has now decided he will go to Tokyo to compete in the World Championships August 24-September 2 as a member of the Canadian Track and Field team.

Tayler, a Georgetown resident, said his 8.18 metre long jump at the Ontario Relays and Multiple Events Championship in Toronto on June 22 made him one of the top three chosen to make the long jump team.

"To make the 'A' standard, you needed to jump over eight metres and only one other guy aside from myself has done it so far. There is still the National Championships at Montreal (July 25-28) where I'm going to try and make the triple jump team as well."

To qualify for the triple jump, Tayler said he needs a distance of 16.50 metres which he said he is close to achieving.

Presently, Tayler is considering expanding his athletic events in order to compete in the decathlon, pending the outcome of this summer's competition.

Matt Brain, one of Tayler's athletic club members, is also enjoying success in track and field competition, placing first in the 15 and under high jump (1.75 metres) at the Royal Canadian Legion Provincial Championships in Windsor on the weekend. His top finishing qualifies him for the National Legion championships, being held at York University August 10-11.

Competing in the javelin, Brain also came close to qualifying, but placed third with a distance of 39.60 metres. Teammate Scott Hobbs placed sixth in the triple jump with a distance of 12.92 metres.
