This past weekend the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 120, Georgetown, was host to visitors from the American Legion Post 40, Plymouth, Mass.

As their bus arrived on Friday, President Bob McNeilly was on hand to welcome them to Canada, on their annual visit to march in the Warrior's Day Parade in Toronto, Saturday.

The Ladies Auxiliary to Branch 120 catered for the Friendship Dinner held that same evening in the Legion Hall, Entertainment by D.J. Ross Crawford, Bob Casey, a Plymouth, Mass. artist presented an oil painting of a Spitfire to Branch 120. President Bob McNeilly upon accepting this lovely gift for our Branch, assured all that it will be hung in a place of honor for all our members to enjoy.

Post 40 Commander Phil Ryan then presented to President Bob McNeilly a piece of the rock, (Plymouth Rock that is).

Saturday, August 17 saw Color Sgt. Ritchie Holbrook and Sgt.-At-Arms Keith Ewing and their respective color guards and marchers at the C.N.E. for the big parade. This is the 10th year Post 40 has participated in the Parade and they have won numerous prizes over the years.

In the evening, a light luncheon was available to all. In the club room the entertainment was by Norm and the Boys.

Breakfast on Sunday morning was served to all Post 40 visitors by the members of Branch 120.

Wishing all our visitors a safe journey home - God Bless America and O Canada was sung by all, ending a very busy weekend at your Branch.

Service Officers Report

An article in a semi annual F.S.N.A. newsletter prompted this reminder to all our readers of the importance of securing family records, and in particular those records which may create delays in processing claims regarding estates for surviving members of families.

Records of deceased members who were veterans of Canada's Armed Forces, can be most important if there are claims after the fact, i.e.: Funeral expenses, Last Post Fund, Spouses allowance. Service related documents and after service employment records can mean the difference in processing successful and timely claims.

I would suggest that a safety deposit box would be a secure method of retention for such documents as, Certificates of service, Discharge documents, including health or pension records and employment records.

All surviving members of a family should be made aware of any decisions regarding safe storage, thus sparing heirs unnecessary stress.
