Toasting tips for wedding guests

ⓂNo wedding party is ever complete without the traditional toast to the bride and groom. Unfortunately, many of us are not the best public speakers. If hundreds of eyes should fall upon you for words of wisdom and congratulations, don't "uuuummm.... aaahhh...." and "well...." your way through the special moment.

Champagne toasts are cherished highlights and definitely merit special thought. According to the experts, a toast is the perfect opportunity to express thoughtful sentiments that all too often go unsaid. With the following tips from Martini & Rossi, producers of the world famous Asti Spumante and Martini & Rossi Brut, your message will come through loud and clear — and, most importantly, from the heart:

- Think about what makes the bride and groom so special as individuals and as a couple;

- If you could make one wish of happiness for the couple, what would it be?

- Speak to other friends and relatives of the couple, get their input;

- Think about what the main message of your toast should be (love, commitment, relationships, etc.);

- Keep your message brief. It should not take an hour to express your sentiments — one to three minutes should be sufficient;

- Touch on a specific experience you have shared with the couple;

- Practice reciting the toast several times before the big day.

If you heed these few simple tips, toasting the newlyweds should be a joyful and memorable experience for all of the guests. Remember, too, that a toast should always end on an optimistic note — everyone should be able to look to the future with love in their hearts!
