Spirits raised at assembly

By FLAVIA TESTA
Herald Special

On Friday, GDHS held its annual Spirit Assembly. Organized by the Student Athletic Association, (S.A.A.), it provided the entire school with some great music, sports team cheers, introductions and brief comments from coaches and the whole school united and showed its spirit in a fun filled, rowdy hour!

The opening act featured the Rebels Blues Band. They got the audience going by playing a couple of rockin' tunes! The audience clapped and sang along, it was great. John Manning, president of S.A.A. introduced the teams, and informed us this year there are 26 coaches guiding the teams (football, field hockey, volleyball, basketball and more!).

The first team to be introduced was the Senior Football Team. Mr. Clark introduced all the players and they had a little message for the Senior Girls Field Hockey Team: "We're better!" We all know that there will be some competition between those two teams! The next team that was introduced was of course the Senior Girls field hockey team. They too introduced the players and they had a little cheer at the end and they too maintained that they were better than the Seniors' football team.

Next on line was another athletic group, the Cheerleaders. The groups consists of both guys and girls and they performed three stunts. The music was a little hard to hear (technical difficulties) but the act more than compensated that flaw.

Junior Boys Volleyball was then introduced and then a little musical interlude featuring the Rebels Blues Band. In the bleachers students got all hyper and they did the wave a number of times, they yelled and cheered, they were having a good time!

On the gym floor each team sat in its own designated section and they too clapped and cheered for their fellow team members as well as their peers. Everyone was divided into groups and people were both upstairs and downstairs, although everyone was together there was still too much emptiness in the gym, it would have been more effective had the whole school been down on the gym floor.

The sound system was not very good and there was some trouble understanding all the speakers, but nothing is perfect right?

S.A.A. then performed a little skit of their own, which could be called an organized jumble. Staff members as well as students huddled close together and danced around for a few minutes, this too was quite entertaining. But now back to business, more teams were introduced.

The senior and junior girls basketball teams, baseball team, Jr. Girls field hockey team, Jr. Boys football, there were a lot of grade nines on that team and it was nice to see them get involved in extra-curricular activities. The cross country team was also introduced. Although that team is small in number it has got a lot of good athletes in it. Coached by a new teacher, Mr. Crevier they seem to have a good grip on their performances this year.

The introductions seemed endless, the number of students involved was incredible and the spirit and happiness that was generated for one short hour was indeed something to be proud of.

Rebels really do have pride inside!

promotion begins

By BRYN DAVIES
Principal, GDHS
October 15-18 Declared
Yearbook Week at GDHS

Next week, students and teachers will be working hard to promote the GDHS Yearbook.

The 1990 Yearbook has arrived and will be distributed to students who purchased it last year.

Some extra copies will be on sale at $20 per copy. This is considerably less than the average price of $30 in most other high schools.

Students who wish to order a copy of the 1991 Yearbook for "pick up" next October may also do so. Again, the price will be $20.

The theme of the yearbook campaign is "Join the Rebellion."

A group of enterprising Business Students led by Lisa Hitchcock, will be assisting with a "market analysis" of the book. The student body will be surveyed so that next year's book will reflect student wishes.

These same students will be soliciting support from local businesses and patrons of the yearbook. If you would like to place an ad, please call the school and we'll get back to you.

Special thanks to Mrs. Spina, Mrs. Bodig, Mr. Assad, Mr. Genore and Mr. Crevier, our staff advisors, and to Tina Cosgrove and Margaret Tse, our student editors.

Many Classes Are Full
This Semester

Your daughters and sons may have indicated that some of their classes are crowded this semester.

The main reason for this is that 1375 students enrolled in September. This is 25 more than we expected.

We also had new and unexpected enrolment in grades 10 and 11, causing considerable pressure in compulsory courses.

The board has allowed us to hire a teacher to help relieve some of the pressure. I'd like to officially welcome Mr. John Gerwin to our staff.

In addition, we are pleased that Mr. Dan Hall will be teaching in our Construction Program. His experience will be particularly valuable in our Apprenticeship Agreement with local colleges and industries.
