The Erland Lee Appreciation Award is presented by Federated Women's Institutes of Canada to a man who most exemplifies those qualities of Erland Lee which led to the founding of the Women's Institute, an organization which spread across Canada and grew to include millions of women worldwide.

In 1897 Erland Lee heard an address by Adelaide Hoodless and he invited her to speak to the local Farmers' Institute Ladies Night. As usual a suggestion like this was not greeted with 100 per cent approval. However, Erland Lee was the President, and also active in agricultural and government circles throughout the area. 101 women and one man, Erland Lee, attended the first meeting and Erland Lee's wife, Janet, wrote the first Constitution of the very first Women's Institute on the Lee's dining room table.

In a day when women were without a public voice, and with limited access to scientific knowledge, Erland Lee lent them his voice, his position, his contacts and his influence.

Throughout the years many men have assisted the Women's Institutes to become the force they are in the communities throughout Canada. Federated Women's Institutes of Canada recognized this fact and this year at their convention in Victoria they presented the very first Erland Lee Award to the Honourable Bill McKnight, Minister of Agriculture.

Ontario has been honored to have two recipients this year.

Reg Whitty, a reporter for the Kingston Whig-Standard, was for many years a great supporter and reporter of the Women's Institute meetings in the Kingston area. He had attended so many Women's Institute meetings that he probably knows more of the history of WI than some members.

The second award was presented on Nov. 7th, during Women's Day, at the Royal Agricultural Fair. Charlotte Johnston, President-Elect of Federated Women's Institutes of Canada will be presenting the Erland Lee Award to Wally Knapp, Agriculture Manager at the Royal. For many years Wally Knapp has been a tremendous booster for the talents of the WI members and the work that Women's Institutes have done. He is a worthy recipient of the Erland Lee Award.
