Famous Canadians

Canada Day is a meaningful day for Canadians. A celebration of the union of two British colonies and a province of the British Empire into a single country called Canada, Canada Day is often referred to as "Canada's Birthday." Every July 1, Canadians celebrate this momentous occasion.

But not all Canadians celebrate the day within Canada's borders. That's because many Canadians are busy entertaining the masses. In fact, Canada has produced many a worldwide celebrity, most of which are household names across the globe. Some of the more famous Canadians include:

* Justin Bieber. Among tweens and teenagers, perhaps no name (or hairstyle) is as instantly recognizable as Justin Bieber's. The Ontario native has a thriving music career and a burgeoning career on screen, including a pair of 2010 guest appearances on the popular drama "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation" and a starring role in the concert film "Justin Bieber: Never Say Never."

* Jim Carrey. Also an Ontario native, the world-renowned funnyman has seen his films gross more than $2 billion, according to online box office reporting service Box Office Mojo. Though primarily a comedic actor, Carrey has garnered acclaim in more serious roles as well. His starring turn as Andy Kaufman in "Man on the Moon" and as Truman Burbank in "The Truman Show" are among his more critically acclaimed performances.

* Celine Dion. Known the world over for a string of hits, the Quebec native is perhaps best known for "My Heart Will Go On," a song that topped the charts across the world and is perhaps best known for the love ballad featured in the hit 1997 film "Titanic." The song became Dion's signature song, and one that won both an Academy Award and Golden Globe for Best Original Song.

* William Shatner. Canada can claim Captain Kirk, the role the Montreal native made famous, as one of its own. Shatner played Captain James T. Kirk on the popular "Star Trek" series from 1966 to 1969 and then reprised the role for a series of hit movies that began in 1979 and continued until the mid-1990s. Though Shatner's television and film career has spanned seven decades, the iconic role of Captain Kirk is the one for which he is most remembered.

* Mike Myers. Another native of Ontario, this "Saturday Night Live" alum is known for a slew of roles, perhaps none more than his role as the lovable green ogre in the "Shrek" franchise. Before he made waves as the voice of Shrek, Myers was perhaps best known as the hipster 1960s secret agent Austin Powers. Myers, who also played the lead character in the hit comedy "Wayne's World," starred in a trio of Austin Powers films.

Canadian Quiz

Last week's Quiz was too simple, everyone I talked to knew the answers. For those of you who did not, here they are.

Question 1.

Which two U.S. cities are north of the Canadian border?
 One was Detroit, the other was Anchorage. (In Alaska) If you guessed Juneau of Fairbanks – that counts.

Question 2.

Where would you find the four Canadian quotes? They are inscribed on our Canadian Currency. One each on the $5, $10, $20, and $100 bills. Would I kid you?

Question 3.

How many of all the Canadian Prime Ministers are not buried in Canada?
 The answer is seven. That's because they are still alive. Now for your weekend fun, name them.

Have yourself a Happy and Pleasant Canada Day.
