Cor Baarda

Congratulations to the following persons/businesses celebrating special achievements:

Halton Hills Hydro Inc. ("HHHI") celebrated a significant milestone in the electric utility industry by achieving 500,000 hours worked without a lost time incident. The accumulation of 500,000 hours is a result of 6 years (February 2003 to September 2009) of a corporate commitment to safety.

"The employees of Halton Hills Hydro display their commitment to a safety culture each and every day as they provide the community of Halton Hills with a safe and reliable electricity distribution system." said Arthur Skidmore, Chief Operating Officer of Halton Hills Community Energy Corporation, the parent company of Halton Hills Hydro Inc.

Communication Associates (Eric Doubt, President), recently developed the 10th Anniversary logo, International Conference branding and marketing materials for Healing Hands for Haiti International. Arthur Sciberras, Communications Art, was designer and art director. Marnie Hughes of Communication Artistry developed the public relations program and acted as project coordinator for the Conference (the Toronto meeting gathered together the organization's Board members and medical team leaders from the US, Canada and Haiti). Halton Commercial Printers and Sherwood Copy provided the print and display materials. Betty-Anne Whip, At Home

Administrative Services, provided the support services. Ormac Inc. is developing the web site. Eric Doubt, Executive Director of this medical non-profit specializing in physical medicine and rehabilitation programs for the disabled in Haiti, along with Karen McKenzie-Stepner, President, Halton Hills Speech Centre, then travelled through Haiti for 8 days with the Team Canada Healing Hands. Healing Hands for Haiti is also building the country's first Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Institute on its' property in the capital. Our community's substantive efforts are known and appreciated by those whose lives have been changed.

Congratulations to the following members celebrating special anniversaries:

Escarpment Views has published nine quarterly issues, completing two years in business. Readers and advertisers are now located from Niagara-on-the-Lake to Tobermory, making it an excellent vehicle for tourism and specialty retail destinations. The magazine has also joined Access Copyright to let people copy its copyright-protected content while compensating its contributors. Two salespeople have joined the team: Myrna Brayford, who is looking after locations from Orangeville to Collingwood, and Paul Glendenning in Hamilton. Escarpment Views is also proud to be a media sponsor for Georgetown Bach Chorale, Georgetown Choral Society, United Way of Milton and Guelph Organic Conference.

The following businesses are offering expanded services:

Other Announcements of Interest:

Finn Poulstrup, 62, becomes the 33rd honouree of the Georgetown Hockey Heritage Council, in part for his money-making schemes, but also for his work as a builder in a number of other areas.

Poulstrup was also president of the Georgetown Jr. B Raiders from 1992-96 and went on to become secretary and assistant to former Raider president Bob Hooper, who was commissioner during the restructuring of the Provincial Jr. A Hockey League. Both retired from those positions earlier this year.

Most recently, Poulstrup was the founding chairman of the Halton Hills Sports Museum and Resource Centre, located in the upstairs room of the Mold-Masters SportsPlex. He helped raise more than $700,000 for this project, which celebrated its official opening last month.
