

Dry winter could result in low water tables, says CVC

Credit Valley Conservation (CVC) is warning of the potential for low water tables this summer due to the dry winter.

The CVC is taking the occasion of the World Water Day on March 22, as declared by the United Nations, to remind residents of water quality and quantity issues along the Credit River. This year's theme is 'Clean Water for a Healthy World'.

"Here in the Credit River Watershed, we've had a relatively dry fall and winter," said Credit Valley Conservation (CVC) Director of Water Resources John Kinkead. "If this trend continues, we're going to see lower groundwater tables and reduced flow levels in area streams. Water conservation efforts will be ever more important this year."

CVC is offering easy tips to keep your lawn, garden or other property healthy and beautiful, while curbing pollution and reducing water use.

- Look for drought-tolerant grasses and plants that don't require fertilizer and will keep your garden looking beautiful, even through dry spells.

- Don't mow too low. By raising the blade on your mower a bit, the grass's roots will grow stronger, and the grass won't dry out as quickly. And for a natural fertilizer, leave your grass clippings on the lawn.

- Use a soaker hose rather than a sprinkler, and consider investing in a rain barrel—you'll have water when you need it, even during dry spells.

- Ensure any household chemicals are properly stored or disposed of so they don't contaminate ground or surface waters.

- If you live in a rural area and you have a private well, ensure that it is properly capped and protected from surface runoff.

Decision on Fallbrook Farm expected June 14

A final decision on the heritage designation of Fallbrook Farm has now been delayed until the June 14 council meeting.

Discussions between the Town, Credit Valley Conservation (CVC), Friends of the Fallbrook, the Niagara Escarpment Commission and other agencies are still ongoing to find an alternative approach to preserving the 19th century building.

Council had voted to begin proceedings to place a heritage designation on the property, located in north Halton Hills, but delayed ratification in January after the CVC warned the Town that it would levy taxpayers any future costs.

Donald Trump's Apprentice – Bill Rancic Picks Local Area Realtor®

By Vanessa Lindsay

Georgetown, ON – On March 8th, 2010, Prudential Real Estate will host its annual International Awards Convention in Austin, Texas. This year, they will proudly welcome keynote speaker Bill Rancic. Bill Rancic is an American Entrepreneur who was hired by the Trump Organization during the first televised reality series of the Apprentice. Rancic has become one of the world's most respected and in-demand entrepreneurs.

Domenic Manchisi, Broker at Prudential Real Estate Brokerage Inc., in Milton is one of the five chosen real estate brokers asked by Rancic to participate on an industry panel of experts discussing various issues affecting the real estate industry today.

Manchisi along with his wife and partner, Jody Manchisi, Sales Representative, have successfully managed the Manchisi Home Selling Team. Domenic is a top producing real estate agent recognized as the #1 agent in Canada with Prudential and is in the Top 1/2% internationally.

During a recent interview, Manchisi stated "I am honoured to have been chosen to speak on this panel with Bill Rancic and Brokers and Sales Representatives some of the top in North America. It will be excellent to share any ideas with such great and sought after people in the industry." An honour indeed, as Domenic Manchisi is the only Canadian Real Estate Broker chosen to be on this prestigious panel.

The Manchisi Home Selling Team is passionate about assisting clients when buying and selling their homes in the Georgetown and Acton area. They have a history of maintaining their client relations long after the sold sign is hung.

If you're looking to make your move, find your dream home today and move in tomorrow with the Manchisi Home Selling Team.

Domenic and Jody can be contacted at their office anytime at 905 878 9100 or by email at Domenic@DomenicManchisi.com
