

DR Iain Meldrum

O R T H O D O N T I S T

Bsc. DDS. MSc FRCD (C)

BRACES FOR CHILDREN & ADULTS • INVISIBLE BRACES AVAILABLE FREE CONSULTATIONS

116 Guelph Street (at Maple) Georgetown
905-877-0145 fax 905-877-1210

190 Broadway, Suite 201, Orangeville
519-941-8210 fax 519-941-1639

Jared, Robin and Kaelyn Bell hang on to a cool orange snake at the Georgetown Market Place.

March Break Madness in Halton Hills

The kids of Halton Hills sure are lucky. The warmest, sunniest week of the year so far just happened to be the same week they were off school for March Break. Many kids took advantage of the fabulous weather by heading outside for fun in the sun. Others celebrated by participating in the many March Break activities taking place around town. From the Georgetown Market Place to the Halton Hills Public Libraries, there were tons of places to go for fun March Break activities. Check it out!

Photos by Andrea Lefebvre

Library volunteer Laura Mazzuca (left) shares a smile with Emma and Miriam Nowling.

Nicole Darmanin shows off her completed turtle at the Georgetown library.

Kyra Chiovitti (left) shows off her freshly-painted face, courtesy of Rachel Armstrong.

Jessi Butcher, Samantha Butcher, Kayla Reynolds and Johnanthony Seminara get up close and personal with their new slithery sidekicks as Steve Marks from Scienstational Sssnakes!! looks on.

Gavin and Jude Thibeault get to work on their Dr. Seuss-themed crafts at the Georgetown library.