Canadian Car of the Year

Small wins big.

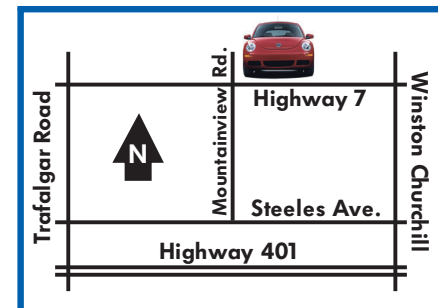

The 2010 Golf GTI was recently named Canadian Car of the Year by the Automobile Journalists Association of Canada. To determine the winner, over 70 auto journalists tested more than 150 vehicles on real roads in real conditions. Those results were then combined with measured facts, like fuel economy and cargo room, to determine the best of the best. Which makes it all the more flattering that, after all that, the car that got the nod was our all-new Golf GTI. Thanks, it's a big honour.
