School board drops trustee position

unevenly distributed," said Tuck Kutarna. "The burden of the greatest workload should not be placed on the area that in many other ways is challenged by the distance from the Board offices in the south."

But in the end, only she and Wards 1 and 2 Halton Hills trustee Gerry Ockenden voted against the change to trustee distribution.

The new trustee distribution and termination will take effect at the next municipal election in October.

Under the new distribution Oakville remains the same, Milton will double its wards to eight with two trustees and Burlington remains the same but with redesigned wards.

The number of trustees each municipality was entitled to depended on the number of the electoral population in that community that support the public school board.

Under the provincial guidelines Halton

Hills had 1.34, rounded to one.

Tuck Kutarna said she is considering running for a second term, "as it would be difficult for someone new to step in and represent all 15 schools in Halton Hills, attend Board and committee meetings which are an hour's drive each way, and see projects such as the GDHS renovation and Field of Dreams through to completion."

"Whoever represents Halton Hills at the HDSB table next time around will need to work really hard to ensure that our needs are effectively represented in an organization now heavily weighted in representation from the south," said Tuck Kutarna.

At press time, Ockenden, who has registered to run for trustee again, could not be reached for comment, but previously said, "I think it's nice we have two trustees, but if we have one, I don't think it's going to be the end of the world."
