

Robotics challenge

Grade 7 and 8 Halton Catholic District School Board students competed recently at a robotics competition at Bishop Reding High School in Milton. Here, Samantha Wilfong, left, and Sara Kennedy, both Grade 7 students at Georgetown's St. Francis of Assisi, work on their robot. The team that placed first overall, as well as in the Halton Hills division, was the one from St. Brigid School, which consisted of David Perna, Caroline Luszawski, Ashley Attard and Alex Wall. The team then moved on to the Halton Skills competition at Robert Bateman High School in Burlington but failed to qualify for the Ontario Skills competition set for Waterloo May 20.
