We want to thank you for your tremendous contribution.

It's all about making a difference in Halton!

Region recognizes volunteers with awards

Thousands of people in Halton contribute their time, talent and passion to helping others by volunteering with local non-profit and voluntary agencies. On Monday, 16 volunteers from across Halton were recognized for their efforts at a volunteer breakfast hosted by Halton Region and Volunteer Halton.

"Volunteers make a vital contribution to the quality of life for people living in Halton," said Halton Regional Chair Gary Carr. "On behalf Halton Regional Council I want to thank all volunteers for the work they do to make Halton a healthy and vibrant community."

Becky Kellar, four-time Olympic gold medalist with Canada's Women's Hockey Team, was the keynote speaker at the event. She shared her recollections about how volunteering has played an important role in her life both personally and professionally.

Halton Region and Volunteer Halton in honour of National Volunteer Week presented the The Cheers to Volunteers award winners to (from left), Links2Care volunteers Michelle D'Alesio, John Owen, and Evelyn Owen, all accepting on behalf of Dave Williams; Karen Sherratt, Gardiner Public School, Angela Pohl, Limehouse Public School Healthy Snack Program, special guest Becky Kellar, Olympic gold medalist, Laila Eriiksson, Chair of Community Development Halton and Halton Regional Chair Gary Carr.

This was the first year for the Community Volunteer Award which recognizes the outstanding contributions of one volunteer from each municipality who has made a significant contribution to their community. The 2010 Community Volunteer Award recipient for Halton Hills is Felice Butterfield of Limehouse School, Halton District School Board.

Cheers to Volunteers Awards recognizes three volunteers from each municipality in Halton (Burlington, Halton Hills, Milton and Oakville) who are chosen at random and are awarded the honour on behalf of their agency.

"Every person who dedicates their time and skills to helping others is special," said Ann Coburn, Director of Volunteer Halton. "Volunteers truly are the heart of a community and it is important that we take time to thank volunteers for all that they do."

The 2010 Cheers to Volunteers recipients for Halton Hills are as follows:

- Dave Williams, Links2Care
- Karen Sherratt, Gardiner Public School
- Angela Pohl, Limehouse Public School Healthy Snack Program.
