Earth Day with the Town

This year marked the 40th anniversary of Earth Day and the Town of Halton Hills hosted a big event to celebrate the milestone. Residents were invited to the Robert C. Austin Public Works Yard on Trafalgar Road where they dropped off electronic waste and hazardous materials, picked up compost and woodchips, bought trees, enjoyed a delicious barbecue and checked out the town's many cool machines. Afterwards everyone headed over to the Georgetown Market Place for an Earth Day Fair, which featured music, balloons, live animals and displays from local environmental groups. Happy Earth Day, Halton Hills!

Community Clean Up

Halton Hills is sparkling again thanks to the hard work of the dozens of people who took part in the annual Community Clean Up Day on April 17. Volunteers scoured roadsides and local parks picking up the garbage that accumulated over the winter. Thank you for making Halton Hills beautiful!
