Zuha'a Khan

Zuha'a Khan is a student at Georgetown District High School who is actively involved in her school and community. Zuha'a demonstrates leadership, initiative, motivated and dedication to the advocacy of youth. In her community she is currently involved with the Mayor's Youth Action Committee, the Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Halton's Homework club, she volunteers at South Georgetown Medical Clinic and the sports & recreation centre, and she is a local radio host. In her school Zuha'a is involved with student parliament, morning announcements and Hearts for Haiti. Her passion, positive attitude and ability to motivate her fellow youth has made a huge impact in many people's lives.

Kevin Linnard

Kevin Linnard, a student at Georgetown District High School, is a participant at Links2Care's Open Door Youth Drop-in Centre. Kevin actively volunteers at the Youth Centre during his lunch time by assisting with the concession stand and the completion of daily statistics. He possesses a creative sense of humor and is a positive role model to his peers by being a polite, compassionate and respectful individual.

In addition, Kevin actively volunteers in Acton's air cadets squadron, and takes great pride in the skills he has learned and the work which he completes with the cadets.

Gordon Rugg

Gordon Rugg is a student at Acton High School who demonstrates motivation, determination and a skill for technological design. Recently Gordon has participated in the Acton Skills competition, the Halton Region's "Be a Hero" affordable housing contest where he received a bronze medal for his work, and the design exchange contest for environmentally-friendly consumer products.

With the hope of incorporating "green" into everything, he participated in the Green Wave where trees were planted across the globe at the same time and in addition, he designed and created a recyclable and re-buildable pair of casual shoes.

Julia Seiler

Julia Seiler is a student at Acton District High School who demonstrates leadership, self-motivation, and perseverance.

Julia has been involved in many fundraising events such as the Relay for Life, to raise money for cancer research and McDonald's McHappy Day, raising money for the development of Ronald McDonald Houses.

In addition to her contributions to her community, she possesses a great skill in photography. She is involved in regional competitions for her photography and is involved with her school's yearbook committee. Julia's photography has also allowed her to volunteer taking photos for events such as school craft shows and Santa Claus pictures.

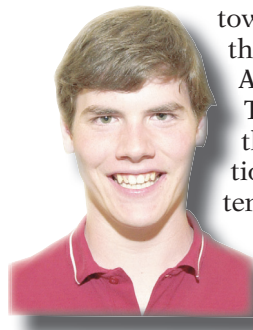

Maeve Sharkey

Maeve Sharkey is a student at Christ the King Secondary School who demonstrates leadership and confidence through her community and school involvement. Maeve is an active member of the school's choir and semi-formal committee and has recently assumed the role of Student Council president where she demonstrates, commitment, organization and leadership to her fellow peers. She is involved in the theatre life of her community with her role in the Georgetown Children's Chorus and local plays like Beauty & the Beast and The Wizard of Oz. In the past Maeve was awarded the school board's most prestigious award, the Sharing the Spirit Award, that is a testament to her community involvement and deep faith.

Scott Morris, Lauren McMeekin, Reece Milton and Robyn Rousseau

SCOTT MORRIS

These recipients are students at Georgetown District High School, Christ the King Secondary School, and Acton District High School. They have been nominated for their involvement and dedication to the Big Brothers Big Sisters of Halton's Homework Club.

The Home Work Club is an after school mentoring program for at risk children in Grades 3 and 4 in schools within Halton Region. Youth are matched one-on-one with students on a weekly basis to help them through academic and social needs.

They have acted as positive role models and mentors for the elementary students. In addition, they demonstrated commitment, responsibility, patience and creativity on a weekly basis.
