Hwy. 401 meeting set for tomorrow

Milton and Halton Hills commuters will get a chance tomorrow night (Wednesday) to let the Province know about their long waits each morning to get onto the eastbound Hwy. 401 and how that situation could perhaps be improved.

The Ministry of Transportation will host a public drop-in session in Milton to present information and receive input on the need for improvements to the section of the highway from Regional Road 25 to Trafalgar Road. It will take place at the Lions Club Hall at Milton Memorial Arena on Thompson Road south of Main Street from 4 to 7 p.m.

Earlier this year, the ministry announced it had selected consultant URS Canada Inc. to do preliminary design and a class environmental assessment study on needed improvements to the nine kilometre stretch of road.

The ministry has set up the website www.highway401milton.com so the public can review study documents. To provide input on the study or be placed on the study mailing list, contact one of the following members of the project team: Rebecca Li, rebecca.li@ontario.ca, Tim Sorochinsky, tim_sorochinsky@urscorp.com, Tyler Drygas, tyler_drygas@urscorp.com.
