Canada Day snapshots

Acton Fire Fighters Association hosted its usual spectacular fireworks show in Prospect Park.

Allyda King, 5, Georgetown is all dressed up on her decorated bike, riding in the Glen parade. It was another successful Canada Day in Glen Williams with several thousand people coming out for the celebration. Co-chairman of the organizing committee Daniel Edwards said all activities were well attended. Edwards said the food vendors did very well, and the annual Duck Race was a sell-out. It was a similar story in Acton where the BIA hosted Concert in the Park (Prospect) followed by the fireworks show.

Eva Murdock is named Glen Williams Citizen of the Year.

Jessie Hayward, 10, of Robert Little Public School's "Everybody Dance Club" performs in Acton.

Face painter Hanna Manierka, 15, of Georgetown showed off some of the work she did on Rhys Price, 4, of Acton during the festivities in the Glen.

Lead guitar Matt Beach, 18, of the Acton band, Hometown Roots, performs at Acton's Concert in the Park.

The Liddle, Derboon, Costain, and Giroux families got together to celebrate during the Canada Day Parade in Glen Williams.
