Solo exhibition for Acton artist

Sonja Mortimer of Acton holds a solo exhibition at the Alton Mill Gallery. Summer Sojourn will run Wednesday, August 11 through September 12. Mortimer will be in attendance on August 15, from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

"The subject matter of my art is essentially landscape reinterpreted, altered or transformed," she says.

In Summer Sojourn Mortimer shares a body of works that have grown increasingly layered in materials and meaning - composites of symbolism and various media folded into one another and "grounded in a fascination with structure and ordered spaces, whether natural or man-made." In featuring pieces such as "A Quiet Place," "Serenity Edge" and "In the Hills - Summer" alongside "Willows" and "Florentine," this exhibition extends Mortimer's characteristic investigation of landscape to an exploration of culture and constructs that influence human interaction with that landscape.

Alton Mill Gallery is located 1402 Queen St., Alton, 519-941-9300, www.altonmill.ca.
