Local youth graduates as RWB School ballerina

Erin Brennan of Georgetown was a member of the Class of 2010 that graduated from the internationally-recognized Royal Winnipeg Ballet School. Brennan, now 20, began training at the age of five in her hometown of Georgetown, at the Halton Hills School of Dance under the direction of Yvonne Oldaker. In 2006 at the age of 16 she was accepted into the RWB School where she has since had the opportunity to display her talents in a variety of performances. In 2008 Brennan was the recipient of the Dr. Alice Cheatley Scholarship and in 2009 she received the Prince Edward Award. Most recently, she was awarded a professional development grant from the Winnipeg Arts Council. In November Brennan was one of eight dancers from the RWB School selected to participate in The National Ballet School's 50th anniversary Assemblée Internationale.
