Start spreading the news: The House of Rib has a new look, new flavours and a new owner. Since he took over ownership of the restaurant, Luc Chartrand has renovated the space, added new signs and introduced new menu items like fresh burgers, poutine with homemade gravy, fresh-cut fries, milkshakes and ice cream cakes. One thing that hasn't changed? The restaurant's signature ribs, which are made with homemade barbecue sauce and cooked until they are fall-off-the-bone delicious. House of Rib is available for dining in, taking out, delivery and catering. Drop by 348 Guelph Street, Georgetown, today and check out the new and improved House of Rib.
