

Fire hall fanfare

The Halton Hills Fire Department celebrated the official openings of two new fire stations Friday at both its Eighth Line/10 Sideroad headquarters, along with its shared building on Maple Ave. with Halton Region Emergency Medical Services.

Below: A special presentation was made in honour of 97-year-old former HHFD firefighter Charlie Valentine (centre), who started as a volunteer with the department in 1938 and retired in 1980. A laneway leading from the new fire hall on Maple Ave. going eastward onto Armstrong Ave. will be named after 'Jimmy' Valentine, as he's known by his colleagues, including former chiefs Bob Meads (left) and Bill Cunningham.
