

Food bank needs donations

The shelves are almost bare at the Georgetown Bread Basket, and the food bank is sending an urgent plea to residents to help replenish the stock.

Any food donation will be greatly appreciated, but on the list for more urgently needed items are: canned meat, canned fruit, canned pasta, canned tomatoes, juice cans, jams and spreads, sugar, large soups, hot and cold cereals, canned salmon and dry soups.

The Georgetown Bread Basket is currently serving between 140 to 170 families, including more than 200 children every month. The generosity of the population of Georgetown has enabled the food bank to give out over 150,000 pounds of food every year for the past several years.

Any items can be placed in the food bank bins at any of the grocery stores and food bank volunteers will pick up.

Although fresh fruit and vegetables cannot be left in the bins, should you have a garden and are willing to share your produce with the less fortunate, your fresh food donations are also welcome at the food bank location—Unit 12, 55 Sinclair Avenue.
