Police issue computer warning

Halton Police are warning area residents of the dangers of using unsecured wireless Internet connections in their homes.

While wireless computer connections are convenient and make for more flexible accessibility to the Web, police warn however that if a person's router is not secure, they could be leaving their entire network susceptible to infection or data theft.

Police say anyone who doesn't have password protection or encryption for their home network, could potentially allow someone to utilize their router to get into their system, or hijack their signal to get onto the Internet.

To ensure a home wireless network is secure from unauthorized access police recommend area residents consider following these security recommendations:

- Change default administrator passwords (and usernames)
- Consider turning on wireless encryption
- Change the default SSID
- Disable SSID broadcast
- Enable MAC address filtering
- Enable firewalls on each computer and the router
- Turn off the network during extended periods of non-use

A person's Internet provider or router manufacturer can supply more detailed instructions on how to protect their network.

Police to hold car seat blitz Saturday

Halton Police will be out in force in Georgetown Saturday (Oct. 2) doing random checks of child car seats in vehicles to ensure they are correctly installed.

Police urge area residents to check both their vehicle and car seat manuals to ensure the seats are properly installed.

The goal of the blitz Saturday is education, not tickets. Inspectors will be on hand to show people how the car seats should be installed.

The blitz is put on by Halton Police, Halton Hills Fire Department and Halton Partners for Car Seat Safety.
