ATHLETES of the week

Acton District High School Athletes of the Week are Jason Field and Kyle Moore. Both are Grade 11 power position players for the Bearcats' senior boys' volleyball squad that won its first three games of the regular season. They also earned the C division title in a tournament at Mentor College in Mississauga, with the goal of qualifying for the OFSAA A championships in Mississauga late next month.

Georgetown District High School Athletes of the Week are Kendra Samis and Bryan Bartle. Samis, a Grade 10 student, is co-captain of the Rebel junior girls who finished the season with a 6-2-2 record and hosted Aquinas in the opening round of playoffs this week. Grade 9 student Bartle shattered the course record by 30 seconds to finish first in the midget boys' category by some 400 metres at a cross-country running meet at Erindale Park.

Christ the King Athletes of the Week are Jenna Waters and Josh Kolenda. Waters, a Grade 10 student, is a standout central midfielder and captain of the Jaguars' senior girls' field hockey team that played to a scoreless draw with Iroquois Ridge. Kolenda is a fourth-year member of CTK's boys' volleyball program and plays the right side for the Jaguar seniors, who are third in their division with a 5-2 record, having won a tournament at Mentor College.
