Georgetown Little Theatre Studio Open House

The Georgetown Little Theatre (GLT) kicked off its 50th anniversary season with an open house on September 25. The company invited the public to the GLT's Stewarttown studio to watch improv shows and stage combat demonstrations, have their faces painted, check out the company's large assortment of costumes, sets and props, and enjoy delicious barbecued burgers. Don't miss the GLT's upcoming production of Wait Until Dark, which runs November 4 to 6 and 10 to 13 at the John Elliott Theatre. For more information, visit www.georgetownlittletheatre.ca.
