

A collection of photos from around town Out & About

RIGHT: Take a good look now because you probably won't recognize these guys by the end of the month. These clean-shaven Georgetown Toyota employees are participating in Movember, a month-long moustache/hair-growing extravaganza that raises money and awareness for prostate cancer. The Toyota team, a.k.a. Lip Spinach, will be rocking some facial hair and collecting donations throughout November. To donate, visit ca.movember.com/mospace/572110 or drop by the Georgetown Market Place on November 7 and 21 to see the team in person. Happy growing!

RIGHT: Having recently returned from working at an internally displaced person (IDP) camp in Nakuru, Kenya, Sarah Johnson wanted to do something to help the people she met on her month-long trip. So for the next few months, Sarah will be holding a children's book drive to help stock library of the camp's newly-built school. Donations can be dropped off at Generations Physiotherapy, located 371 Mountainview Road South in Georgetown South. Sarah hopes to ship the books to Kenya around Christmas.

LEFT: The Acton Aqua Ducks made a splash at the recent Fall Invitational Swim Meet in Organeville. The team competed against swimmers from around the province and had many outstanding finishes with many swimmers beating their personal best times and a number of new competitors swimming their first races in an official meet. Congratulations, Ducks!
