

Library gives Service Ontario an assist

You may have heard that the government of Ontario has amalgamated many of its service points into a one-stop-shop called Service Ontario. In addition to having store locations, Service Ontario is also a one-stop website, <http://www.serviceontario.ca/>. This is where your local public library comes in. In anticipation of this new way of accessing government services, the staff at the Halton Hills Public Library was specially trained to give you whatever help you need in finding your way around this very useful website.

There is a lot there for you to explore. For example, did you know that Service Ontario is the place to renew your vehicle sticker, change your address or order a new birth certificate? Just had a baby? You can register the birth, and apply for a birth certificate and Canada Child Care benefits, all in one place. There are services for adopted children and parents. Homeowners too can find and compare property value assessment information.

Service Ontario also includes services for businesses. There is tax information, applications for business licenses and a full range of permits, including everything from accessible parking to work permits. You can even research other businesses, and find out about government programs and services that can help you get your business off the ground.

Service Ontario also has all sorts of great advice for those puzzling situations life often throws us into. Find out what you should do if you lose your wallet, if you need to look after an elderly relative, or if you are planning your next career move. All the information you need for a whole variety of situations is organized and accessible, right at your fingertips. Just follow the Life Events link.

In addition, if you are interesting in dabbling in this and other electronic resources, you may consider entering the library's E-wareness Contest. You could win a $100 gift certificate for answering a question about Service Ontario and two other online resources. For more information visit our website at <http://www.hhpl.on.ca/Ewareness.asp>.

So take a look at Service Ontario, and if you need assistance, contact your local branch of the Halton Hills Public Library (www.hhpl.on.ca). Our trained staff can help you to help yourself to a fabulous range of services.
