INTRODUCING...

The world's first invisible hearing aid that fits deep into the canal and the almost invisible Open Fit technology.

To determine which option will work best for you, a hearing and lifestyle assessment is required. Speech clarity is dramatically improved. If you find that you can hear but not understand then one of these options may be right for you.

If you have been putting off getting the hearing help you know you need because you are self-conscious, you need to come for a trial with the new Invisible-In-the-Canal (IIC) or almost invisible Open Fit (OF) technology.

The Invisible-In-the-Canal (IIC) option fits deep into your ear canal to eliminate feedback and reduce listening effort. The Open Fit (OF) technology allows a more natural sound as the ear canal remains open for easy phone listening, reduced noise, greater comfort and clear speech.

See if the world's first invisible hearing aid is right for you!

Mural magic

Local artist Liz Zahara recently unveiled a mural at Silver Creek Public School after working on it for most of the summer. The Kindergarten to Grade 8 students and their teachers submitted events for each grade which Zahara featured in her mural as she progressed through the grades. Photo by Ted Brown

Food drive Saturday

Scouts and guides will be out collecting food from Georgetown area residents for Georgetown Bread Basket Saturday.

The Scout/Guide Annual Food Drive helps feed the 170 families, including 200 children, who use the food bank.

Items most needed are peanut butter, canned meats, stews, fish, soups, cheese spreads, canned juice and juice boxes, canned fruit and vegetables, pasta sauce, cereal, nutritious snacks for children including mini fruit cups, macaroni and cheese, instant coffee and personal grooming items.

Donated items should be left on the front step/porch by 8:30 a.m. in the paper bag that was provided in the Tuesday, Nov. 2 edition of The Independent & Free Press.

The youths will be collecting food in Georgetown, Glen Williams and Stewarttown.

Volunteers are needed to help drive the youths on some collection routes and help sort and pack boxes at Alliance Church to be taken to the Georgetown Bread Basket.

Volunteers are asked to show up at the church, 290 Main St., S., as of 10 a.m. Volunteers will be needed later in the day at the food bank, 55 Sinclair Ave., to help with the unloading of heavy boxes (up to 50 lbs).
