Walter Joseph MacPherson
March 19th, 1938 - November 5th, 2005

Husband, father, papa, brother, friend

Each generation is a family renewing itself over and over again and memories of each generation are important for they can never be replaced. When night falls and the sun rises they see you through good times and hard times. Walter when you passed on your memory became a permanent part of our hearts. You live on in each one of our children and each grandchild.

It's been five years since we said goodbye and we honour your memory more than these mere words on paper can say. To look in our children's and grandchildren's faces, to hear their laughter, their voices, to be so proud of them is to help me appease this loneliness since you've gone for they are a devotion of your life. They are an echo of your devotion to work and family. Each one of us remembers you in our hearts as your love surrounds us all and your spirit guides us in our daily lives.

To say I miss you is a selfish thing to reiterate because I know you are in a much better place.
