Lucky No. 13

For the 13 years, Dr. Anoop Sayal of Marketplace Dental Centre, has organized a food drive through his office, encouraging staff and patients to take part. Georgetown Bread Basket volunteer Don Burt (right) dropped by Wednesday to pick up the estimated 500 lbs. of food at Sayal's office.

Beer vat move off until new year

Well, vat's vat... at least until next year.

Plans to move six massive beer vats through the area this weekend have been postponed until the new year.

Challenger Motor Freight Co. was tentatively planning to begin moving the beer vats from Hamilton Port Authority to the Molson Coors Brewery near Toronto Airport Friday (Dec. 17) evening, coming through this area late Saturday and early today (Sunday,) but early Thursday deecided to put the move off—for the fourth time—until early Jan. 2011.

Challenger Motor Freight spokesperson Sarah Sheehan said the company decided with Christmas parties this weekend there would be lots of extra traffic on the roads, and it would be better to postpone the move until the new year as it comes with road closures and other disruptions.
