Bouteiller to carry Green banner

At its annual general meeting last week the Green Party of Wellington-Halton Hills nominated Brent Bouteiller as its candidate in the event of a federal election.

BRENT BOUTEILLER

Bouteiller has run for the Green Party federally in Wellington-Halton Hills for the past three elections, increasing his vote each time including a 48% increase in total votes in 2008.

Bouteiller, a Fergus-area resident, is a professional engineer who has been practising transportation engineering since 1990.

"This election we will get the ball rolling on major issues, showing the public that we can, and must, have a growing economy while preserving the environment," said Bouteiller. "The Green Party is the only major federal party to release its election platform, Vision Green, ahead of time with all our promises checked by an independent source to ensure they are realistic and affordable. We challenge all other parties to do the same."

In 2008 the Green Party came in third in the riding, behind the Conservatives and Liberals, with just under 5,000 votes and 10% of the overall vote. To find out more about the Wellington-Halton Hills Green Party visit <http://whhgreens.ca>

Storm prompts high water warning

Conservation Halton issued a High Water Safety bulletin yesterday (Wednesday) that will remain in effect until Saturday.

Another wet weather system will affect the GTA area throughout the next few days. General rainfall amounts of 25 to 35mm are currently forecasted in this system for Halton Region.

The rain, along with the melting of the existing snowpack, will result in increased runoff into area waterways.

It is anticipated that this will cause water levels in streams to rise and some localized flooding in low-lying areas could occur.

Conservation Halton also expects these conditions to result in stream banks and slopes becoming slippery and dangerous. Please use extreme caution around bodies of water and stay well back from stream banks and alert children in your care of these imminent dangers.

Conservation Halton will continue to monitor stream and weather conditions and will issue further messages as necessary.
