

CtK honoured for excellence

A contingent from Christ the King Catholic Secondary School recently traveled to Toronto to receive the Education Quality & Accountability Office's Dr. Bette Stephenson Recognition of Achievement for its excellence in a number of areas. The award recognizes the CtK community's dedication to student achievement and use of provincial assessment results to improve student learning, as well as the school's leadership, positive attitude and sincere effort to be successful. Pictured above (front, from left) are: John Merlini, CtK's department head of English/Moderns; Dr. Bette Stephenson; CtK principal David DeSantis. Back row: EQAO CEO Marguerite Jackson; Terry MacDonald, CtK literacy itinerant; Toni Pinelli, superintendent of education, Halton Catholic District School Board; Josie Halycz, CtK department head of Religion/Humanities/Family Studies/Social Sciences; Wendy Giroux, CtK department head of Mathematics; EQAO vice chair Jerry Ponikvar.

ATHLETES of the week

Acton High School Athletes of the Week are Madeline Tribble and Shannon Crowe. Both are members of the Bearcats volleyball team, and were chosen for their games against King's Christian College. Tribble, playing power, was cited for her excellent serving and strong hits. Crowe, playing middle, had a great hitting game.

Georgetown District High School Athletes of the Week are Amy Pond and Brendan Bodiam. Pond, a member of the Rebels wrestling team, was selected for placing in the top 12 at OFSSA in the 51 kg class. Bodiam, the goaltender on the Rebels boys hockey team, was chosen for his strong goaltending during the season.

Christ the King Catholic High School Athletes of the Week are Cam Jenkins and Mark Hurst. Both are members of the Jaguar's boys hockey team. Jenkins, the goaltender, was selected for his great saves in OT against Holy Trinity,
