Region Chair to host Environmental Awards

Every year I look forward to spring—and not just because the warmer weather means a break from shovelling snow, but because spring is the time of year when we host the annual Regional Chair's Environmental Awards.

The Roundtable committee members and I always look forward to receiving a number of very creative submissions, and seeing the outstanding work that Halton students participate in throughout the year. The 2011 Regional Chair's Environmental Awards will begin at 7:30 a.m. on Thursday, April 21 at the Burlington Convention Centre.

Each year, the winning students are recognized at the Regional Chair's Breakfast on the Environment. Our keynote speaker at this year's breakfast is Geoff Green, a Canadian environmentalist and founder of Students on Ice, an award-winning educational expedition organization based in Gatineau, Québec.

I am also pleased to report that this year we have a new scholarship called the Halton Environmental Leadership Award.

Gary Carr

This scholarship will be awarded to a graduating high school student who has demonstrated outstanding leadership in their school or community. The award winner will receive $2,500 for their post-secondary studies and a $500 donation will be made in their name to the environmental organization or charity of their choice.

Through events like the Regional Chair's Environmental Awards, parents, mentors, teachers, and business people are able to reach out and support our youth and nurture their interest in making our world a better place to live. The event not only recognizes and celebrates excellence; it provides our youth with an opportunity to exchange ideas and to share enthusiasm for environmental accomplishments and initiatives with Halton's business community.

For details on the Regional Chair's Environmental Awards, please visit www.halton.ca. As always, feel free to email me on Regional programs and services at gary.carr@halton.ca
