HOW TO DECIDE ON A MOTHER'S DAY PACKAGE

By Anna Scatozza

Spa Packages have always been the ideal Mother's Day gift. But how do you know what to give? Should you give a specific package or a certificate? Ideally, a specific package personalizes the gift. And in the event the recipient wants to change packages, it is easily done.

It's not just about the spa package. It's about the experience. It's about giving our mother a pampered get away. A relaxing special time that is all about her. You want to select a Spa that offers the right environment, away from the local mall.

In Norval, just outside of Georgetown, there is the Adamson Spa and Salon.

It is a beautiful spa in a converted century home that affords its clients a relaxing country atmosphere. It is one of the most established spas in the area and boasts a highly trained and professional staff in the areas of laser, aesthetics and hair care.

Most spas have aestheticians, who will take the time to help you make your gift decision. They see clients every day. They know what is popular and what sort of gift would really be appreciated.

Packages can range from a 2 hour package priced at about $150 to a full day at the spa for just over $300. Some of the most popular treatments are aromatherapy massage, essential oil hot stone massage, the essential care facial, blow dry and styling, collagen eye treatments as well as manicures and pedicures. And some spas pamper you with beverage and cheese plates to further enhance the spa experience.

It is quite common for a daughter giving her mother a spa package to join her for a day at the spa together. This makes the experience even more personal and enjoyable.

Also important is how the spa packages the gift certificate. A gift card or coupon may be functional but a beautiful gift box tied off with a ribbon just adds that extra touch. And isn't that what a spa experience is all about? That little extra touch.
