$50,000 completing our $250,000 pledge four years from now, it will be all that more rewarding."

"Our volunteers play an integral role in making our hospital a more caring place for the community," said Cindy McDonnell, Chief Operating Officer at Georgetown Hospital.

"This $250,000 pledge truly demonstrates our volunteers' commitment to the quality care we provide and will continue to provide at our hospital thanks to their time and efforts."

The GHVA, with a membership of more than 130 adult and youth volunteers, assists in many departments throughout the hospital. It raises money by running the hospital gift shop and coffee kiosk, through the HELPP Lottery, its annual poinsettia sale, chocolate sales and by organizing various community events such as the annual fashion show and annual strawberry social.

Injured woman to have surgery tomorrow

A Georgetown woman, who has been waiting in excruciating pain for surgery after a serious shoulder injury suffered June 10, was told Monday by her Brampton surgeon he will perform the operation tomorrow (Thursday).

Christine Ford was originally going to have to wait until June 27 for the surgery to repair the damage to her shoulder she suffered in a fall from her bicycle on Wildwood Rd.

Her sister Barbara Ford-Pimento said she was told the surgery should have been scheduled absolutely no later than 14 days after the accident; Ford's original appointment was 17 days after. The family was desperately trying to get it moved up.

Ford-Pimento said they "are ever so grateful" the surgeon was able to reschedule the surgery because it will give Ford a "better chance for use of her arm."

"We're so relieved because that puts her inside the 14-day window giving her the best opportunity for successful surgery and use of her arm."
