Man charged in pizza delivery incident

A Georgetown man is facing charges after an incident Saturday night involving a pizza delivery driver. Police say a pizza delivery person arrived at a Georgetown home about 10 p.m. Saturday to deliver a pizza and became involved in a disagreement with the resident of the home who took the pizza but refused to pay for it. The driver came back to the house about 2:30 a.m. requesting payment. The resident came out of the house with a lacrosse stick and struck the driver across the back. He wasn't injured. Police were called, responded to the home and charged the resident. Charged with assault with a weapon and fraud is Ronald Flint.

Police received several reports of thefts from vehicles throughout the town over the weekend including incidents on Danby Rd. and Elgin St. in Acton late Friday or early Saturday. Other entries in Georgetown include one on Stonebrook Cr. late Friday or early Saturday, two on Duncan Dr. Sunday. In the Duncan Dr. incident two males wearing black clothing were spotted.

Police were called after a Prince Charles Dr. resident whose vehicle had been entered spotted two males heading northbound on Prince Charles about 3:25 p.m.

Police responded but did not find the suspects.
